

Toddler Takedown

Idea: users can enter their information and stats and then the app will calculate their power and let them know how many toddlers they can take down.

Features:

- When visiting the site there will be a pop-up letting the user know this is for entertainment purposes only and to not actually try fighting toddlers
- An area to enter all of their info to calculate their strength
- Once they submit then a pop-up will appear notifying the user how they would perform against the toddler hoard
- A leaderboard with different users and their scores
- A way to delete a leaderboard entry

Will use javascript, html, and css. Will utilize express, cors, and axios.